Sermon Scripture: Daniel 1

Sermon Thought: God is sovereign was the message of today's sermon. It is easy to say but harder to live by. For Daniel and his friends, it meant trusting God's sovereignty even when they were in exile in a foreign country.

Sermon Questions:

1. How would you define sovereign?
2. What does it look like for you to trust Gods sovereignty in your life?
3. Why do you think the apocalyptic portions (dreams and visions about the future) get so much attention?
4. How should we handle the apocalyptic portions?

New Prayer Concerns:

- Darlene Keeton – in the Commons Skilled Nursing
- Carolyn Russell – having tests for some heart issues
- Theodore Spencer – Bill & Kim Spencer's grandson; recovering from having a shunt put in Friday to remove fluid off his brain
- The Tinius' have new twin nieces who were premature. Pray for them & their mom, Daysha.

The Last Alarm

Recently, my watch band broke so I have not been wearing it. Well, my watch was my alarm. To make up for it I have been using my phone alarm. Not a big deal except I don't recognize the sound. My alarm was going off for two minutes at a restaurant last week before I realized it was time to pick my son up from school!

We set alarms for all kinds of reminders: time to wake up, time to leave, when food is done, children in time out, and so on. You've probably also had time when your alarm didn't go off for whatever reason. You find yourself wondering what the burning smell is or why does it seem so light outside just before panic sets in, "OH NO! MY ALARM DIDN'T GO OFF!" Then it is off to the races to fix the problem while your heart is pounding and blood pulsing rapidly through your body! Hopefully, later we can reflect and laugh at our alarm mishaps.

There is one alarm, though, that nobody is going to miss. In speaking of the second coming of Christ, 1 Corinthians 15:51 says, "...we will all be changed-in a flash, in a twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will all be changed." The scriptures also say that every knee will bow at that time.

When this final alarm sounds, time is up. While everyone will know what that final alarm is, not everyone will be ready. Unfortunately, there will be no rushing around to fix a problem, no speeding to make it to work...time is up. I want to encourage you, live your life for the Lord! Be prepared by following his ways so that you can confidently say, "Come Lord Jesus, come."

Colorado Christian Services 25th Annual Fundraising Campaign

Please join our congregation in giving to Colorado Christian Services today. Over its 56 years of service, CCS has helped birth mothers lovingly place their babies into stable Christian homes through adoption. In addition, for the past decade CCS has been able to offer affordable, faith-based counseling to married couples, families, and individuals through their Biblically-sound counseling program. Each donation allows them to continue to offer these services. Thank you for your generosity!
